

TO CHARGE THE ARMY.

Dr. Doty Will Attack Coxeysites with Lancet and Virus.

Fitzgerald's Contingent Refuses to Take Any New Recruits.

Said to Be Composed of Picked Men Who Can Give References.

Dr. Doty, of the Bureau of Contagious Diseases, determined this morning that the members of the New England contingent of the Army of the Commonwealth, which arrived in town yesterday, must be vaccinated. And any other person found with them at their headquarters would have to be vaccinated, too, the doctor said.

The sixty members of the army were housed in the quarters of the Commonwealth at 50 East Tenth street early this morning to take of the breakfast provided for them by F. W. Miller, who is in charge of the place. The breakfast consisted of hot rolls and butter, coffee, eggs and cheese. It was served to the men as they were seated at long tables in the basement of the building. M. D. Fitzgerald and Morrison J. Swift, a graduate of Heidelberg and Johns Hopkins Universities, who are the leaders of the delegation, had breakfast with H. D. Salisbury, editor of the Twentieth Century, who, accompanied them at his home. They left the main army in charge of the Commissary, Nicholas Adams, a competent man who wears spectacles and has the appearance of a German student.

When the men had breakfasted they transformed their quarters into the semblance of a military camp, minus the uniforms and muskets. Several of the men took seats in the wooden chairs and bent their necks at right angles to the shaved. Others blackened their own boots and prepared to make as presentable appearance as they could when they should go forth during the day to see the sights of the city.

their starting point. Avery said that over 100 men who wanted to come along were rejected because they could not give satisfactory references. A few others were rejected because of their age. On men whose age had been an objection, insisted on coming with the rest, and was allowed to do so. He is tired out now, Avery said, and may have to be sent back, if he does not stand the journey any better. The members know him as "Charlie," an iron worker, of Boston.

The men will give an entertainment in Germania Hall to-night before the speaking begins, in which some of the Populist and Socialist leaders of the city are to take part. A collection will be taken, and on its amount will depend whether the men will walk or ride when they leave Jersey City to-morrow. They hope to raise enough to take them to Baltimore, but they will ride just as far as the money will carry them and then stop and try to raise more.

TO COXEY BY BALLOON.

Kentucky Party of Seven Going to Washington on an Airship.

(By Associated Press.)
HARRISBURG, Ky., May 4.—Peter Springer, a Mexican veteran and a Coxeysite, with half a dozen companions, are to start on a balloon trip to Washington in a balloon to join the Commonwealthers. They took chairs, harnesses and maps along with them to direct their course. They took six days' provisions with them and will land as the balloon needs refilling and take a fresh start until the journey is finished.

Springer secured an experienced aeronaut to pilot them safely to their journey's end, and says he will contribute $100 to Coxeys on his arrival at Washington.

Springer is the same party who contributed $100 to Miss Pollard during her trial.

Coxeyism Is Revolution.

(By Associated Press.)
ANN ARBOR, Mich., May 4.—Judge Thomas M. Cooley, in addressing the law students yesterday, discussed the Coxeys movement from a constitutional point of view. He said that an individual has no right to person to the seat of Government and present his petition. The wheels of Government should not be stopped by a few people. The chosen representatives are to present the petition. The so-called Goddess of Liberty, or Peace, may lead such a demonstration, but if not in a constitutional manner it is a revolutionary attack upon American liberty.

Train Seized at Puyallup.

(By Associated Press.)
SEATTLE, Wash., May 4.—Gov. McGraw, after being notified that the industrial army under "Gen." Cantwell had seized a Northern Pacific train at Puyallup, said the road was in the hands of the United States Courts and the Federal Government was fully prepared to cope with the difficulty. He refused to take any action as to the train, but said that if any part of the army remained at Puyallup, he should deal with any emergency that arises. Later news says the train has been sidetracked.

The St. Louis Contingent.

(By Associated Press.)
LEBANON, Ill., May 4.—"Gen." K. Morrison and his Commonwealth army of 32 St. Louis men reached the city last evening and went into headquarters at an old brick stable. A special meeting of the City Council was held and $25 donated to provide supper and breakfast for the weary, hungry men. Private subscriptions swelled the sum appropriated by the Council.

Coxey Wants His Boy.

(By Associated Press.)
MASSILLON, O., May 4.—Seth Shoemaker, of this city, has received a telegram from Gen. Coxey requesting him to express the General's two-year-old son to Washington at once. The express companies refused to accept and transfer the child.

MOTIVE FOR GROB'S MURDER.

He Had an Important Document, Which Is Missing.

Showed that a Certain Man Owed Him Considerable Money.

The funeral of Gottlieb Grob, who was murdered in his home, 21 William street, on Wednesday night, will take place to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, from Grob's undertaking establishment, Eleventh street, between First and Second, and Avenue A. The interment will be in the Lutheran Cemetery and the total expense will be borne by Harmonie Lodge, United Mammie No. 1, D. O. H.

The police are to-day as far from apprehending the murderer as they were an hour after the crime was discovered. They have abandoned the theory that a woman was interested in the murder, and have been forced to fall back on the theory that robbery was the motive for the crime.

The fact that there were many things untouched, which an ordinary robber would have taken, contradicts this theory, but Mr. Kleinau, of the firm of Fuch & Kleinau, picture-frame dealers, of 39 Greenwich street, holds that the murderer got all he went after.

Mr. Kleinau was an old friend of the murdered man, and says that Grob held a document to the effect that a certain man owed him several hundred dollars, and he had this document with him to-day after the dead man's divorce.

The possession of this document he attributes as the motive for the crime. The document has not been found since the murder. Mr. Kleinau was closeted to-day with Capt. Slewin, of the Oak street station, for over an hour.

Mrs. Kantrowitz, an elderly woman, residing in Clinton street, was also taken to the station. She is an aunt of the murdered man and his only blood relative in this country.

Two policemen were sent to New Jersey to-day after the dead man's divorced wife.

Mrs. Herring, who lived on the floor below Grob, and who was very friendly with him, was found to-day at 108 Water street, Brooklyn. The detectives gained no information from her that threw any light on the murder.

The tenants of 21 William street consider the house an ill-fated one, and talk of moving out. But a short time ago a woman committed suicide there by throwing herself from a fourth-story window. A few days later there was another death in the house. Last week a man named Herring, who was crushed by a wagon and died there an hour later. The people were speculating upon what would happen next, when Grob's body was discovered.

George Hunt, the cook who found the dead body of Gottlieb Grob, was arrested to-day. Detective McCrory took Hunt before Justice Taintor and asked for his discharge, but he would not discharge him, and ordered him taken before the Coroner.

ST. LOUIS SWINDLER'S FATE.

William Whalen, of St. Peter's Mine Fame, Gets Four Years.

(By Associated Press.)
ST. LOUIS, May 4.—William Whalen, of St. Peter's mine fame, has been convicted here of obtaining money by false pretenses in that he floated by untrue representations, stock in absolutely worthless mines.

The sentence imposed is four years in the State prison. During his crooked work in this city, Whalen secured nearly $300,000 from investors.

Found Fighting in Mott Street.

Frank Wooden, an Italian, twenty-three years old, got in a row in Mott street at 10 o'clock last night, and but for the timely appearance of Policeman Price, of the Elizabeth street station, the discomfited Italian would have been in a worse way. Wooden, who says he works in a livery stable at 77 Mott street, had a six-inch sheath knife in his pocket. In the Tombs Police Court this morning Justice Taintor sent him to the island for three months.

RUNAWAY BOY CAPTURED.

He Disappeared Last December After Stealing $33.

Richard Everhardt, aged seven, of 77 Prospect street, Newark, was found last night by Agent Grier, of the Gerry Society, begging at Thirty-second street and Broadway. The police and Gerry people have been looking for young Everhardt since last December, when he ran away from home after embezzling $33 from a journal called Town Talk, for which he worked.

Richard would not tell where he had been living. He was turned over to the Gerry Society at Jefferson Market Court to-day.

STRUCK WITH A STONE.

Fireman Quinn Hurt by a Missile Thrown from a Roof.

David Quinn, thirty-four years old, a fireman on the steamship Lehigh, received a severe scalp wound shortly after midnight this morning by being struck on the head with a stone thrown from the roof of the house 1 Hamilton street.

Earlier in the evening Quinn, in company with an unknown man, had been visiting friends in the neighborhood of Catharine and Hamilton streets, and it is supposed he had started for Jersey City when struck.

He was taken to Gouverneur Hospital. His wound, while serious, is not thought to be fatal. The police are investigating the matter.

SAYS HE TRIED TO STAB HIM.

Policeman Sullivan Accuses Kelly, Who Is Fined $5.

James Kelly, age forty years, employed as general utility man for Eastman Johnson, the well-known artist, at 65 West Fifty-fifth street, was taken a prisoner to the Yorkville Court to-day by Policeman Cornelius Sullivan, of the East Sixty-seventh street station, on the charge of attempting a felonious assault.

Sullivan says he found Kelly lying drunk on the sidewalk at Fifth avenue and Sixty-fourth street, last evening, and that when he aroused him Kelly drew a pocket-knife and tried to stab him.

Kelly said he had no remembrance of the occurrence, and explained that after delivering a letter at the Metropolitan Museum of Art he took several drinks, and not being accustomed to whiskey it went to his head. Justice Voorhis fined him $5 for disorderly conduct.
